Objective 3: Can understand basic information about someone's likes and dislikes

Audio Script

In this listening, you will hear two colleagues, Ahmed and Sultan, chatting during a break at a training center in Riyadh.

Ahmed: Hi Sultan! How was your weekend? Did you go somewhere nice?

Sultan: Actually, I was in Jeddah on business. It's my favorite city in Saudi, even if it's not the capital city.

Ahmed: Jeddah is great. Did you stay in a nice hotel?

Sultan: Yes, it was beautiful. But the breakfast was a bit horrible—the coffee was very weak. What about you?

Ahmed: I stayed in Riyadh. I'm preparing for a trip. I'm going to London next month on holiday!

Sultan: Oh, wow! Are you worried about the language?

Ahmed: A little, but I've been practicing. I want to see how the food is different from Saudi food.

Sultan: It will be very different! What is your favourite food here, Ahmed?

Ahmed: Of course, Kabsa. It's the same as my mother's recipe. I love the spices, but I'd like to try fish and chips in London. What about you, Sultan?

Sultan: My favourite is fresh seafood. And for a drink, I always choose mint tea because I don't like coffee.

Ahmed: Mint tea is classic. By the way, I'm buying a new suitcase for my trip. What colour should I get?

Sultan: Get a bright one, like orange! It's my favourite colour.

Ahmed: Good idea. Black is too common and blue isn't my favourite.
