

Unit 5 EX.1

Listening objective: Can understand basic factual statements.

Topic: The New Apartment

Jamie is telling her friend Tom about her new apartment over the phone.

(Sound of a phone ringing, then being answered)

Tom: Hello?

Jamie: Hi Tom, it's Jamie!

Tom: Oh, hey Jamie! How are you?

Jamie: I'm great! I'm calling from my new apartment.

Tom: Nice! Tell me about it.

Jamie: Well, the apartment is on Green Street. It's not very big. It has two rooms.

Tom: Two bedrooms?

Jamie: No, one bedroom and one living room. The bedroom is small, but it's nice. The living room is big. It has three large windows.

Tom: That sounds good. What about the kitchen?

Jamie: The kitchen is new. It is very clean. It has a white fridge and a small, blue table.

Tom: Is there a supermarket near the apartment?

Jamie: Yes. There is a big supermarket on Main Street. It is next to the bank.

Tom: Perfect. And is the apartment expensive?

Jamie: No, it's not expensive. The rent is seven hundred dollars a month.

Tom: Seven hundred? That's really good for this city!

Part 3: Answer Key & Rationale*

Activity 1 (Match):

1-H (Apartments are commonly described as big or small)

2-A (Kitchens are often described as clean, new, old, etc.)

3-G (You buy food at a supermarket)

4-F (A street has a name, like "Green Street")

5-D (Rent is an amount of money)

This activity builds vocabulary related to homes and locations, preparing learners for the factual statements in the dialogue.

Activity 2 (True/false):

1. False (She is calling from her new apartment.)
2. False (It has one bedroom and one living room, not two bedrooms.)
3. True
4. True
5. False (Tom thinks $700 a month is "really good" for the city, meaning it is not expensive.)

Activity 3 (MCQ):*

1. b) Two ("It has two rooms.")
2. b) White ("It has a white fridge.")
3. c) On Main Street ("There is a big supermarket on Main Street.")
4. b) big and has three windows. ("The living room is big. It has three large windows.")
5. c) $700 ("The rent is seven hundred dollars a month.")

Every question is a direct test of understanding a clear, basic factual statement from the dialogue, which is the core objective of this unit.
